To whom it may concern

We are writing on behalf of Tri-Stucco Contractors Inc., the largest Residential Contractor in the field of Exterior Insulation Finish Systems (EIFS) in Southern Ontario and winner of the BILD 2019 Trade Contractor of the Year award. We have known DuROCK since we established our business in 2001 and they have been instrumental in our growth. We started with a family-run management team and a dozen site workers and have grown into a company who at times supports work for a team of 200. Our growth can be attributed to industry improvements spearheaded by DuROCK.

DuROCK has been producing high-quality products in the field of EIFS and Specialty Coatings for 40 years. Their President, Gary Campacci, is well recognized as a pioneer. DuROCK's continuous effort to provide highest quality product and the quest for continuous improvement can be attributed to his ambitious and dynamic leadership.

Due to Gary and DuROCK's innovative approach in developing new products they have set a very high standard in the industry and as such are a top choice for architects, builders and contractors. Their PUCCS system revolutionized EIFS and was a turning point for our industry, leading to EIFS being officially integrated into both the National and Ontario Building Codes. Nonetheless, DuROCK forged ahead looking for new ways to push the industry to be even better.

Today, DuROCK's PUCCS NC is the latest example of yet another state-of-the-art material for EIFS and will have a far-reaching affect for the residential and commercial projects locally and abroad due to the product's technical features. This advancement can be attributed to DuROCK's continuous investment in research and development to explore new frontiers in EIFS and help exceed Building Code requirements. The applications for PUCCS NC are limitless and we look forward to our industry reaching new heights. This will undoubtedly support the growth of Canadian businesses like ours and create countless jobs.

DuROCK is family-owned Canadian business and over the past 40 years they have contributed significantly to Canada's economic growth at regional, national and global levels. We have no doubt they will continue to do so exponentially, and we are proud to work with them on our projects. We appreciate DuROCK's longstanding support in growing our business and creating loyal customers. We look forward to a long and mutually prosperous future ahead.

Yours sincerely,
